RENO, WASHOE COUNTY, NEVADA, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1878.

NO. 50.

The Clothing War.
EDITOR GAZETTE: In the Journal of October 2d, I find an announcement signed L. Abrahams, of the White House. This announcement sets forth that other dealers in clothing keep "humbug shops" and offer "unsalable goods" to the public. He also believes that these humbug dealers "lie to deceive the public." I represent, for my part of the humbuggery, Mr. Editor, I represent that when I offer "unsalable goods" I always suffer for it, and not Mr. Abrahams. The people have worn my goods long enough to know better than Mr. Abrahams whether they come from a "humbug shop" or not. During my many years residence and business in Reno, I have made my own reputation and it is safe from the interested charges brought by this newcomer at the White House.

Now, whether I keep a humbug shop or not, I shall continue to sell the best goods in market and at the lowest rates. I shall sell men and boys clothing cheaper than "Whitey" can sell them. I shall keep more goods, and a reaper stock always on hand. And all of these assertions, so far from being "lies to deceive the public" can be proven by my patrons during fair week as they have been proven any time during the past ten years.

M. NATHAN,
Virginia Street.

The scarcity of diamonds, gold and silver, and the difficulties met with in securing them, is a sure indication of their value. Thus it is with a valuable medicine. Dr. Aug. Kaiser's celebrated German Pulmonic Elixir, through the jealousy of rivals, has met with the most bitter opposition, and apparently almost insurmountable obstacles have been thrown in its way; but its opponents might as well try to change the course of the sun, sweep back the ocean with a broom, or put out a prairie fire with a tear. For the cure of Throat and Lung diseases, such as Coughs, Colds, Consumption and Bronchial Affections it is unequalled. Its cures are truly magical. Ask your druggists, Ostrum & Shoemaker, for it. The genuine bears the Prussian Coat of Arms, the fac-simile signature of Dr. Aug. Kaiser, and has his name blown on every 75-cent bottle. Trial bottle, 25 cents. anteed

A CARD TO THE PUBLIC.—I do not sell any goods 30 per cent. below cost, or even at cost, but I offer my first-class stock of clothing, furnishing goods, boots and shoes, hats and caps, trunks and valises, etc., which have been bought for cash at the lowest market rates. Therefore I wish the public to post themselves on my prices before going to the humbug shops where they are always drumming into the ear that they are selling at cost, or below cost. They either bought unsalable goods or they lie to deceive the public; they don't deserve to be patronized. Remember the One Price Store—The White House—No. 19 Commercial Row, next door to the postoffice. L. ABRAHAM.

RENO AND SURPRISE VALLEY.—Caldorwood & Kern's stages will leave Reno hereafter on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, at 3 o'clock A. M., and reach Bidwell, Surprise Valley, at 6 o'clock on the following days. Returning, will leave Willow Ranch at 7 A. M. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, arriving in Reno at 9 P. M. on the following days. Fare, $30 each way. Freight on baggage over 30 pounds, 8 cents per pound. Of fices at Hammond & Wilson's stable, opposite Railroad depot. J. WILSON, Agent. oct14

NOTICE.—Having established a purchasing agency, Mr. L. B. Brien will give his personal attention to orders of any kind, such as boots and shoes, furniture, crockery, carpets, millinery goods, groceries, etc. Being in constant business relations and having a thorough acquaintance with all the leading houses, ladies, in ordering through Mr. Brien, will receive the full benefit of his experience and find it more advantageous than doing their own shopping. Address letters, P. O. box 340. Sacramento, Cal. oct12

"BLOOD WILL TELL."—I offer for sale or trade fine head of Berkshire Hogs, including my mammoth sweepstakes pair shown at agricultural park Reno for years 1877 and 1878. Butter, eggs, hay and wood, legal tender coin not refused. A. H. BARNES, Reno, Oct. 18th 1878.

For pianos and organs visit Brookins & Holmes' piano warerooms on Virginia street, Reno, Nevada. This firm will sell cheaper than any house on the coast. Old pianos and organs taken in exchange for new. Instruments sold on easy installments. Pianos and organs for rent. oct12

Wells, Fargo & Co's New Office.

Wells, Fargo & Co's new office is having the finishing touches put upon it to-day and will be ready for occupancy to-morrow. The front apartment, the office proper, is nicely wainscotted in alternate strips of pine and red wood and fitted up with neat desks and a handsome walnut counter. A large apartment in the rear will be used for a baggage and bullion room. Set off from the main office is a finely finished chamber for the use of the agent. Mr. Smith will hoist the new flag upon the new flag-staff on Thanksgiving morning. The new office is much more conveniently situated than the old.

An Engineer Injured.

On Sunday morning as the freight train on the V. T. from Virginia to Carson got to the Eureka mill switch, the Humboldt locomotive, which was at the rear of the train, by some means slipped the rails. The engineer, Wm. McKean, jumped off, and hurt himself so badly in doing so, that he is now laid up. Reports have been published that Mr. McKean was jammed between the locomotive and the tank. The train men say, however, that nothing of sort happened, and that McKean got hurt by jumping, and that he is not a tall seriously injured.

Birth.

[Communicated.]

The Western hotel, the residence of Mr. J. D. Shaw, one of our most worthy and respected citizens, is now basking in the sunshine of a most agreeable surprise. Providence seems to scatter in rich profusion its choicest flowers in the paths of those deserving it. At 12 o'clock on the 25th of November Mrs. Shaw became the mother of a second boy, a perfect model of the good old stock. Mother and child are doing well. May our best wishes attend them.

Give Thanks.

The ladies of the M. E. Church will set a grand Thanksgiving dinner in McGinley's Hall on Thursday November 28th 1878. Fifty cents will be the price of the feast, and Turkey, Pork and Beans, and other delicacies will be served. Everybody is invited.

BOSHTIN'S PROIDE.

THE MASSACHUSETTS AGITATOR INTERVIEWED.

What the Downester Looks Like—How He Talks—The Little Bostonian's California Programme.

Dennis Kearney, the monarch of the sand-lots and the terror of such slimy imps of hell as editors and such festering midnight assassins as capitalists, arrived in Reno just as the midnight sky of yesterday hove in sight. He was riding in a first-class carriage of the putrid monopoly, but when the locomotive belonging to the same hell-bound corporation came to a stand-still at the decomposing depot, and the crowd rushed to see the great man, he did not seem to be at all disturbed by his painful position in the midst of so much corruption. The GAZETTE reporter was among the throng. He had seen Dennis before—had even had the honor of listening to him as he bawled his beautiful sentiments in the neighborhood of the insensible San Francisco new city hall. He had humbly beheld Dennis on the balcony of Dr. O'Donnell's office on Kearney street shouting with many damns that the only way to treat the Chinese question was to march down to the Pacific Mail wharf 10,000 strong and burn the bloody steamers where they stood. He had heard him declare from that same historic balcony opposite the Bella Union that every lamp-post in the city should, within a few days, support a dangling capitalist and that should the hounds of the law dare to carry him to the sweat box.

TIN THOUSAND MIN.

wud lay the city prison in ruins and make the shtrates run wid blood before morning. And then, just after Dennis had reared these awful words and the vast mob of his adherents were howling with bloodthirsty and frenzied applause, he saw one small policeman appear upon the balcony and take Dennis by the collar and lead him off to the sweat box in question, and he was kept there and the tin thousand min, for some unexplained reason, omitted to lay the prison in ruins, and didn't adorn the lamp posts as described. The reporter afterwards saw the great man on trial in the city criminal court and heard him under oath fearlessly declare that he hadn't meant bullets when he used the word bullets. What he had meant, he courageously explained, was ballots. In short, the reporter had seen Mr. Kearney under a variety of circumstances and always behaving as a vulgar, bragging, cowardly blackguard. The reporter not unreasonably hoped that a four months' residence in the refined and cultured atmosphere of Boston would have had a good effect upon him, and that his crushing defeat in the Butler campaign would have taught him a little modesty. But no. There in the smoking car sat the same Dennis. The same squat, coarse figure, rat-like eyes, coarse hair growing down in a point over the little forehead, nearly meeting the eyebrows. The same dirty handkerchief around his neck, the same brogue, the same uneasy self-assertion and swagger.

Kearney shook hands affably, and in reply to the reporter's commonplace inquiry as to how they had treated him in Boston, replied: "Oh, first-rate. It's a nish place." "How about Butler—did he rather go back on you?"

Reporter—Why?

Kearney—I have me own reasons.

KEARNEY'S PROGRAMME.

Reporter—What do you intend to do when you reach San Francisco?

Kearney—I intend to keep up the sand-lot meetin' and organize the Workingmin for the fall campaign. Oh, I'll make it hot! There's lots of work to be done in California. There's lots to be done. I musht carry the State.

Reporter—They'll be glad to see you back again, I suppose?

Kearney—So they will. They nade me. I've had a dispatch sayin' they'll get up an ovation en me at Sacramento.

Reporter—You've heard of how the people of Truckee have driven out the Chinese?

Kearney—Yes! And they done right. That's the way we'll do in every city and town in California.

Reporter—You'll stay in California permanently, I presume?

Kearney—No, I'll go East again after the fall election. They nade me there.

Reporter—How do you think the Boston municipal election will result?

BUTLER A TRAITOR.

Kearney (with disgust)—Oh, Butler has sold us out. The Workingmen have put up a good ticket but Butler has sold out to the Democrats and there's no show for us.

Reporter—You don't feel discouraged over your eastern trip?

Kearney—No, sir; not a bit. It was a grand success. I wudn't take all the with on the Pacific coast fur what I done there.

Reporter—Well, the papers say you have killed yourself there.

Kearney—Then why do they take so much notice of me. Sure, the Boston Traveller reported me four columns and a half long. Time will tell, young man, time will tell. I don't feel like talkin' I'm very much fatigued."

Dennis gave quite the Boston drawl here, but despite his fatigued talk in a very lively way with all comers. Some one asked him what he thought about

THE FLOP IN SIERRA NEVADA.

"Well," said the sage agitator, "if I buy Sierra Nevada at $5 and it goes up to $200, I make money, don't I?" It being admitted that under such lucky circumstances Mr. Kearney would undoubtedly be something in pocket, a person put in with:

"But suppose you bought it at $200 to-day and it went down to $5 to-morrow before you had time to unload, what then?"

"Sure," cried Dennis, with sudden inspiration, "sure it's all a gamble. Everything that's made be gambling in stocks is legitimate. Sure it's the Central Pacific that's the land-robbers and cut-throats. Everything they've got they made by robbery. I haven't time to talk about it. Time will tell, young man, time will tell."

Here somebody introduced Mr. Friedman, the barber, as the ex-president of the Workingmen's party of Washoe.

"Yes," observed Mr. Friedman, throwing his head back and thrusting his thumb into the arm-hole of his vest, "Yes, I've raised some hell around here myself, Mr. Kearney."

The two great men shook hands cordially and the agitator and barber retired to a corner of the car and conversed earnestly together in whispers till the train started and proudly bore toward the Golden Gate the smallest cause for a big noise that the century has produced.

Mr. Friedman Interviewed.

Desiring to learn what matters of deep importance had engaged Messrs. Kearney and Friedman in such close consultation to the slight of all other visitors anxious to shake the celebrated Bostonian's hand, a GAZETTE reporter was this afternoon dispatched to interview Mr. Friedman upon the subject. The reporter found him in his shop, where he was engaged in lathering the chops of a putrefying capitalist. The reporter stated his business, and Mr. Friedman with some hauteur requested the journalist to be seated until he had finished the business then in hand, which he did with that speed and Friedmanesque grace with which we, the bearded ones of Reno, are familiar. After squirting some cologne into the countenance of his customer, (and receiving the customary fee) Mr. Friedman threw himself languidly into a chair by the reporter's side, and yawningly inquired: "So you want to know what me and Kearney was talkin' about, eh? Well, when we was introduced, Kearney says he, 'I've heard tell of you before, Mr. Friedman, and I was a-goin' to stop over when I was goin' east, but I didn't have no time.' He says to me, says he, 'How's things goin' with the party here?' and I said, Oh, we was gettin' along all right with me as president, till Hoole come in and disrupted things to the hurt of the party, and then we fell off in strength an' I retired, an' then everything went through. Kearney he says he was sorry to hear that, an' he wanted to know the vote of the county, an' I told him about 2000, an' he says could he do any good by comin' up, an' says for me to write for him when we want him, an' he'll come."

With reference to more general matters, Mr. Friedman stated that Kearney had informed him that the reason he did not elect Butler was that old Ben had joined too many political rings and consorted with ringsters and politicians to his own ruin.

"I'm and Kearney," concluded Mr. Friedman, "could run the machine, you bet your life we would make her hum."

A MOUNTAIN PHILOSOPHER.

The Effect a Game of Marbles Had Upon Him.

An old man in a yellow blanket overcoat and a bulbous nose and big fur cap, stood against an awning-post on Sierra street this morning and watched some boys playing marbles. The old gentleman was evidently from the mountains, for his long-legged boots were covered with red mud and he had, as his breath betokened, been celebrating his visit to civilization. Only tipsy men and lunatics soliloquized in real life. The old man was evidently not a lunatic, but he soliloquized:

"This is the racket," he murmured, gazing admiringly upon the excited and noisy youngsters. "This is the true business! Nethin' but natur here. Here's a study fur a man! No puttin' up jobs to keep folks from seein' the inside o' their minds. The boys is the thing. No cheatin' or stealin' or writin' fur newspapers among them. Jist hear that little chap with the white head tellin' the other feller with the curly brown head that he's out o' his turn an' see how the little cuss owns up an' stan's to one side. Dammie, there's a lesson fur us grown up frauds that's allus tryin' to cinch each other all the time an' raly makin' ourselves believe we air! Godamity jist! Poor little cuss! Tellin' the other chap that he took one o' his marbles by mistake an' givin' it up, an' the other chap never knowed nothing about it, an' 'ud never a knowed he was one out. There's honesty, now. Where'll ye see the eka! o' that among us grown up slimes! There's a lesson fur our office holders, by—! No stealin', no tryin' to get away with what belongs to somebody else! By—! It's amazing! This is the gang I want to run with! No gougins' in this layout. Cuss me if there's anythin' like boys arter all! Here, you little snipes! Drop yer marbles an' come an' have suthin' with an ole varmint that had oughter be ashamed to look one o' ye in the face. Come over to the saloon an' take a nip an' warm yer intrails!" "We don't drink, sir," said one of the shavers politely.

"Ye don't, eh? Well, that's right, but come along and have a cigar—take suthin' I don't care what it is. Every one o' ye's a standin' moral lesson to mankind; if ye ain't black me to blank, by blank!"

Vain Pride.

If any old acquaintance of W. D. Phillips should fail to recognize him to-day it will not be surprising, for the gentleman, stands a head taller than heretofore. It is all because he is the father of a healthy female infant. In a few weeks it will be the most wonderful child living. The GAZETTE heaves the usual sigh and bestows its customary blessing.

NEW DEPARTURE.—On and after December 1st, 1878, the store of Manning & Duck will be conducted on a cash basis. Every customer will be compelled to pay for his own goods. No extra profits for bad debts. We propose to sell goods cheaper than they have ever been sold in this market. We are compelled to this important step by several weighty reasons: First, we wish to encourage prompt payment. Second, the prompt payer should not be compelled to pay an extra profit or the slow customer or the man that never pays. Third and most important reason, we are not able to carry so large an amount of capital on our books and keep up our stock of goods. Good gilt edge customers will be allowed a credit of thirty days. If by agreement longer time is given, interest of 1 1/4 per cent a month will be charged. A. H. MANNING.

NO MORE EXTORTION

It now lies within the reach of every hard-working Farmer, Miner and enriching the grabbing and unscrupulous Store-keepers who do not hesitate to take the last penny from a hard-working man, woman or

THE MECHANICS' STORE

Whose reputation for straightforwardness and square dealing is known far and wide, and needs no further comment, employs an army of clerks for the sole purpose of filling COUNTRY ORDERS, and thousands living outside of Sacramento avail themselves of this chance, do all their buying by sending orders direct to the Mechanics' Store, and thereby avoid paying enormous prices to the merciless grabbers who infest every city and town on the coast.
The method upon which the Mechanics' Store is conducted is universally known; yet, for the benefit of some who may not know, we will here repeat it. It is as follows: Every article in the house is bought at the lowest market rates, to which only a small profit is added. The price once fixed is marked in plain figures on every article, and in never deviated from, thus giving the poor judge of goods a chance to supply his wants as low as the most expert buyer.

Nothing is Misrepresented! No Faults are Concealed!
All are treated alike—a person living 500 miles away sending an order obtains the goods at precisely the same prices as customers who are present to select for themselves. All goods are cheerfully exchanged, and in cases where nothing suitable can be found the money will be willingly refunded.

FELLOW'S
COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES.
THIS DISCOVERY
Is the result of a series of Scientific Experiments based upon the theory that "for the successful cure of Wasting Diseases, the nervous system must be made vigorous and healthy."
One of the first symptoms of disease affecting either the Liver, Lungs, Heart, Stomach, or Genital Organs, is a loss of nervous power.
This is followed by muscular relaxation, weakness, and emaciation of all the organs which depend upon them for health or involuntary muscular activity.
The inventor, acting upon this idea, that the muscles and nerves depend upon each other for efficient strength and action, and that they must be treated directly in order to speedily and permanently cure diseases of the organs which they control, became convinced, after months of experiment, that no other preparation produced such potent and direct effects upon the nervous system as his Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites

and except in cases of actual organic loss, that it would restore patients suffering from these maladies.
Amongst the diseases overcome by the use of this remedy are the following:—
Chronic Constipation,
Chronic Dyspepsia,
Asthma,
Chronic Bronchitis,
Consumption,
Chronic Diarrhea,
Chronic Laryngitis,
Melancholy,
Nervous Debility.

Debility, resulting from Typhoid and other low fevers, Diphtheritic Prostration, Hysteria, Hypochondria, Nervous Exhaustion, Marasmus or Wasting of the Muscles, Aphonia or Loss of Voice, Sluggishness of the Liver, Interrupted and Feeble Action of the Heart, Suffocating Feelings caused by mucous obstruction of the Lungs and Air Passages leading therefrom, and Debility from various causes.
Indigestion and habitual Constipation almost always arise from weakness of the muscles and nerves of the stomach and bowels.
In such cases, Fellow's Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites has proved itself of the greatest service by inducing healthy peristaltic action of the intestines. The evacuations soon become copious and healthy, without producing the usual effects of cathartics.
Weakness of the JOINTS and MUSCLES, IM-
PURITY OF THE BLOOD, and INWARD WAST-ING may be cured by attention to the regular described doses, and by due regard to the habits of life.

FELLOWS'
Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites
The power of arresting diseases displayed by this preparation is honorably acknowledged by the medical faculty in every section where it has been introduced, and the large sale is the best guarantee of the estimation in which it is held by the public.
This syrup will cure PULMONARY CONSUMP-TION in the first and second stages, will give great relief and prolong life in the third. It will cure ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, LARYNGITIS and COUGHS. It will cure all diseases originating from want of MUSCULAR ACTION and NERVOUS FORCE.
